

The Canadian Playground Safety Institute's Playground Inspector Certification Program

Playground Inspector Certification

The Canadian Parks and Recreation Association (CPRA) offers the Canadian Certified Playground Inspector certification program through the Canadian Playground Safety Institute (CPSI). Four-day sessions are being offered by CPSI in various regions across Canada for participants who wish to complete the playground inspector certification training.

Only individuals who complete the CPSI Theory and CPSI Practical courses and achieve passing grades on both exams are considered to be Canadian Certified Playground Inspectors. During these sessions, each of the two courses will consist of 1 ½ days training and a two hour exam.

Session locations, dates and course fees are listed on the registration form on the back of this flyer.

The Canadian Certified Playground Inspector status is valid for a three year period and can be renewed by completing a recertification exam either online or in the classroom.

Theory and Practical Course

The Theory course helps individuals thoroughly understand the Canadian playspace safety standard from CAN/CSA Z614 "Children's Playspaces and Equipment" and the Practical course teaches participants how to conduct a hands-on inspection/audit of a playspace.

Individuals who only want to take either the Theory course or Practical course are welcome to attend these sessions. However, the Theory course is a prerequisite for the Practical course. Practical course participants must have completed the Theory course during the first two-days of these sessions, or within the preceding 12 months either at another classroom location or online.

Who should take these courses?

This training is designed for owner/operators, health inspectors, daycare staff, maintenance/public works staff for schools, municipalities, housing complexes and other areas that contain public playspaces, private inspectors and contractors, manufacturers, installers, parks staff, insurance agents, etc.

Are you due for recertification?

Inspectors with recently, or soon to be, expired certifications, can renew by taking a Practical course to brush up on their knowledge and then writing the classroom recertification exam. If you are recertifying, please indicate your intent by marking the Practical course and Recertification exam boxes on the registration form.

If you prefer to recertify by writing the online Recertification exam, contact us at cpsi@cpsionline.ca and we'll get you the registration form you will need.
