Symposium brings CEC opportunities

Symposium is BCRPA's flagship event that attracts hundreds of delegates in the recreation, parks, and culture sector. The conference is taking place April 27-29 at the Fairmont Chateau Whistler. It provides an excellent opportunity to engage with professionals in the field and learn more about the issues relevant to the sector such as leadership, sustainability, and partnership building. It is also a unique opportunity to connect with others and expand your professional network.

There are two ways in which registered fitness leaders can earn CECs through Symposium.

1. Attend as a delegate

In addition to the networking, education, and professional development to be gained through attending, you will also be awarded CECs. Each session has a corresponding CEC credit. Check out the Symposium webpage for the complete breakdown and to register.

2. Volunteer

Volunteer your time at Symposium and you will receive one FREE Continuing Education Credit (CEC) per three hours of volunteer time at the event (to a maximum of four CECs for the entire conference). Register your volunteer hours at: <http://bit.ly/1SpUW00>

Deadline for sign up is April 11.

In exchange, you will be involved in tasks such as room monitoring, providing participants with general directions, assisting with audio-visual equipment, and other logistical tasks as needed.
